Runs were few and far between at the Polo frounds yesterday, Taylor and Leever the pitchers, having the batters worried all the time. Only two runs were made, and as the ownership of both of these was of Pittsburg creation the New Yorks were shut out. The hitting was desultory and uncertain, and there was a pronounced vein of dulness in the game, but this was often interrupted by fielding that was of excellent quality. The skilful fielding was, in fact, the best part of the game. The pitching was high class, but that so far as it is relished by the cranks is concerned, is a negative virtue. The first man up fell heir to one of the Piratical promenades of the bases. This was leach, who slammed a single over second hase and stole the second neatly. He went to third when Taylor threw Beaumont out at first and completed his wanderings on a long fly which Clarke sent to Mertes.

Hans Wagner, who is as supple as he is strapping, worked a cleverly planned double play on the New Yorks in the first inning. Brunsfield's muff of Leever's throw gave Bresnahan a life; then Browne sent a pop fly to Wagner Browne, apparently, took it for granted that the fly would be caught and loafed going to first. Wagner, seeing this, trapped the ball, and thus Bresnahan was forced. Wagner picked up the ball and sent it over to first ahead of Browne, and Bransfield completed the double play by tagging Bresnahan. Bresnahan would have been put out anyway when Wagner let the ball strike the ground, but Browne could have peepended the the first and Leever's stowness of wit enabled the New Yorks to have prevented a double play by running the hit out.

Warner's quickness of wit and Leever's slowness of wit enabled the New Yorks to victimize the Champions with a double play in the third. Leever was on third and Leach on second when Clarke sent a grounder to Dahlen. Leever was caught between third and home and ran back in order to allow the other base runners to advance. Leach preempted third, and Warner chased Leever toward that bag. Leever, instead of stepping on third, which would have saved him from being put out, ran past the base. Thereupon Warner touched Leever, who was still off the base. There was a consultation and wrangle as to whether a double play had been effected, for the situation was rather puzzling for awhile.

Frequently bright outlooks for runs fizzled out. Mertes was left in the fourth after opening with a two bagger and Bowerman was left in the sixth after opening with a single. Leever slipped in this inning and fielded Mertes's sacrifice to first while sitting on the grass.

The rapidest sort of fielding kept the Pitts.

single Leever slipped in this inning and fielded Mertes's sacrifice to first while sitting on the grass.

The rapidest sort of fielding kept the Pittsburgs from scoring in the fifth inning. Ritchev led off with a two-bagger, and Phelps walked. Quick work by Taylor stopped Ritchey at third when Leever bunted. Devlin threw Leach out at first, and dibert ran out and made a superb catch of Beaumont's short fly. Sebring, first up, hit for two bases in the seventh, and three cinch flies followed. Beaumont beat out a slow infield hit in the cighth, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Wagner's wicked wallop for two corners. Devlin chased Wagner's hit, and third base being left uncovered. Wagner promptly stole it. Browne, the figst batter up for New York in the eighth, drew four balls. Clarke took Devlin's long drive. Bowerman hit hard to centre, so much so that Browne tried to make third on the hit. He miscalculated being nipped at third by Beaumont's fine throw.

The Brooklyns played another errorless game yesterday, but this time their hitting was shoddy and bigged at the knees, Their game with Chicago was one of those close, small score affairs which are all too common this season, and it also was a victory for Chicago. Jones, the flipfiap specialist, was hit freely by Chicago, while Corridon confused the locals. freely by Chicago, while Corridon Confused the locals.

The Cubs won the game in the fifth inning, the only inning in which they scored. Corridon sent a safe one over Babb's head. Smith and Casey were easy outs on files, but Chance brought Corridon in with a screaming triple past Sheckard. On Slagle's hit Chance scored.

FIFTH RACE.

MAJOR DAINGERFIELD WINS.

DEFEATS AFRICANDER IN THE STANDARD STAKES.

Handspring Horse at Home in the Going at 6 to 1—Hermis Badly Beaten—Waterside a Good Two-Year-Old—Buttling a Surprise-Four Favorites Lose.

Daingerfield, running in the colors of W. B. Leeds, win the Standard Weight for Age Stakes, one mile and a quarter, at Gravesend yesterday. The race was run over a heavy track, and, with Irish Lad, The Picket, Highball and Mizzen scratched, the form players were divided in opinion as to whether E. R. Thomas's Hermis or the Hampton Stable's Africander would carry the day. Africander, with Fuller up, was the choice at 7 to 5, being lowered a point, while Hermis, with H. Phillips in the saddle was backed down from 9 to 5 to 3 to 2. Major Daingerfield closed at sixes. The three-year-olds, S. S. Brown's Broomstick, R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Montreson and the Boston Stable's Ostrich, an added starter, were all passed up.

The start was good and there was a fierce rush for the lead Going past the judges' stad for the first time Hermis and Montreson were side by side, making the pace, with Africander and Major Daingerfield in behind them, and the others trailing in a shower of mud. As they turned into the back stretch Montreson led Hermis by a head, with Africander in advance of Major Daingerfield. Half way to the far turn Africander began to overhaul Hermis, while Montreson, unable to stand the pace, dropped back. Martin, meanwhile, had a tight hold on Major Daingerleaders to run each other into the ground. Africander finally secured command on the turn, and Hermis for the first time felt his

As they rushed into the stretch Africander swing wide. Major Daingerfield took advantage of this and got up to the Star Ruby colt on the outside. As both jockeys went to the whip, Major Daingerfield bore in to the rail and clearly bumped Africander, who of hammer and tongs to the wire, where Major Daingerfield was victorious by three parts of a length in 2:10. Africander being fifteen lengths before Hermis who stopped as if shot in the stretch and was eased up to a walk, taking third money from Montreson by five lengths. Ostrich was next, with Broomstick, all out, bringing up the rear. Africander was so sore at the post that he wanted to lie down, which possibly accounted for his disappointing performance. The winner was generously played because of his recent performances in just such going Newton Bennington's Waterside, by Watercress-Troyene, won the handicap for two-year-olds at five furlongs in a way that stamped him one of the best colts of his age yet seen in the East. He was a 7 to 10 favorite, picking up 121 pounds and giving all the way from eight to thirty-three pounds to the others. Amberjack was backed down from 4 to 1 to 13 to 5 to beat him, and broke in front when the gate went up, but Waterside quickly left his company and spreadeagled all the way, having six lengths at the Wilson, Jr.'s Gamara, by Sorcerer-Pixy, 20 to 1, took the place from Amberiack by five lengths. John E. Madden's Fly Back did not get away well and was last. Seven were scratched, including Pulsus, from the handicap for three-year-olds, at about six furlongs and James V. was made the choice at 9 to 5. He was never dangerous, finishing next to last. John F., third choice at 21 to 5, after shaking off Collector Jessup at the head of the stretch, won easily by two lengths in 1:11 4-5. Sydney Paget's Ormonde's Right, second in favor, took the place from Collector Jessup by a length. The second race for mares at a mile and a sixteenth, went to the favorite, W. H. Kraft's Flammula, but only after a bard drive, in riammula, but only after a nard crive, in which she defeated Mattie Corbett's Coppelia, 15 to 1, by a head. With a stronger boy on her back, Coppelia would undoubtedly have taken the big end of the purse. But Shaw was McFadden's master. Ella Snyder, second choice, was third, two lengths away. The time was 1.51 3-5.

The time was 1:51 3-5. The time was 1:51 3-5.

Apprentices had the mounts in the fifth event, at a mile and a sixteenth, and Cincinnatus, second choice, with Corr up, was an easy winner by five lengths in 1:54. The Rhymer 8 to 1 was second in a fierce drive,

Meekin, the favorite, stopped at the end of a -Meriden, was an overwhelming favorite at 7 to 10 in the last race, for two-year-olds, at five furlongs, but he got the worst of the E. R. Thomas's Niblick, backed down to 6 to 5, looked the winner at the last furlong. in a drive by two lengths in 1:03 2-5. Niblick

TO-DAY'S CARD FOR GRAVESEND. Many Good Fulles Named to Go in the Clover Stakes.

The card for Gravesend to-day presents many problems. The Clover Stakes, for two-year old fillies, is the feature, with Czaraphine Wayward Lass, Novena, Diamond Flush, Simplicity, Chrysitis, Mirthless and Incantation all figuring well. In the handicap, at a mile and an eighth. Hermis gets 133 pounds with his stable mate, Andy Williams, in at 109. Carbuncle, with 114, looks dangerous if he is ready and Hermis does not go, while Audience, with 100, will surely be in favor. In the first event, at about two favor. In the first event, at about two furlongs, for sprinters, Astarita, Ascension, Atliei, King Pepper, Judge Deiton and Dapple Gold are the best on form, while in the second event, for maiden two-year-olds, Gilpin will probably rule favorite. Stuyve, Charles Elwood and Sheriff Bell may be the contenders in the fifth, with Sir Lynnewood, St. Gallen and Brooklynite having a chance in the sixth. The entries are as follows:

Chicago, June 7.— Not aince the first race on the opening day had a favorite won at Harlem until Pat Dunne's Adare landed in front in the second race to-day. Superstitious members of the talent who had not spent their bank roll in backing first choices mailly took the "hunch" on the thirteenth one and went to Adare for the limit.

Aside from this, the only feature of the afternoon was the victory of Gregor K. In the fourth race, at seven furlongs. A large number of the spectators thought Soufriere had won by a nose, but the judges decided otherwise.

GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

YEAGER WINS $35,000 ON MAJOR DAINGERFIELD.

But the Sensational Young Plunger Drope $15,000 of it on Niblick-Jack Me-Ginnis Springs a Good Thing in Buttling and Takes $14,000 Out of the Ring

Joe Yeager again! This time the "Boy Plunger" gave the betting ring at Gravesend yesterday a jarring jolt when Major Daingerleld won the Standard Stakes. Yeager saw he Major defeat Africander at a mile and a sixteenth on a fair track with an allowance of nine pounds the other day, and figured that he could do the trick right over again on a basis of scale weight, as the Hand-spring five-year-old has always been a sensa-tional mudder. Yeager waited until some of the layers had chalked up 8 to 1 against the Major before sending his commissioners through the ring. They went up to the books and simply asked:

"How much do you want on Daingerfield?"
As Africander and Hermis had drawn housands of dollars into the cash boxes the ayers took Yeager's money readily at first but there was such a quantity of it that the price dropped to sixes and fives and many refused it altogether when the horses reached the post. It was estimated that Yeager's agents got about $6,000 down straight and that he cleaned up about $35,000 on the result of the race. It was in the last race that the rumor got abroad in the ring:

"Yeager is playing Niblick!"
Apparently the young speculator, who has nearly all of the bookmakers in a state of terror these days, had no use for Newton Bennington's star two-year-old Salvage together with John A. Drake, John W. Gates and all the big players who were sure that as far as the son of Salvator was concerned the race was "in." Yeager's men hurred up and down each side of the ring and unloaded about $15,000 on Niblick, who by the way, was heavily played by Mr. Thomas. The opening price, 2 to 1, was soon chopped to 6 to 5 and in some cases even money. It was Yeager's luck to have Salvage get the worst of the start, and it seemed as if he would naul about $20,000 more out of the layers boxes when his plans were rudely upset by . L. McGinnis's Buttling, a big colt by Star Ruby-Falsalara, against whom there was is much as 100 to 1 in some books.

McGinnis handed out the good thing to many of his friends in the paddock before the race, and his colt was played by former Sheriffs Buttling and Creamer, who were a the track on purpose to partake of the feast McGinnis bet $200 straight and $500 to show, it was said, at 60 to 1 and 3 to 1, so that his personal earnings amounted to about $14,000.
McGinnis watched the race from a vantage point in front of the press stand, and when he saw Buttling loom up in the stretch under Burns's whip he began to yell until his face was crimson. When the colt passed the wire in front he leaped into the air and kicked his heels together. Then there was a handshaking bee which lasted for several minutes until McGinnis tore himself away to collect the bundle in the ring.

The signal defeat of Hermis was a hard blow not only to his owner, E. R. Thomas, but to more than half of the crowd. His remarkble race in the Brooklyn, when he hooked up with Irish Lad for more than a mile, was taken Stakes. The going just suited him, and he was sent to the post in splendid shape. H. Phillips said that he was just galloping up the back stretch with his mouth open, but that he stopped short at the end of the mile, as if he had burst a blood vessel. The $60,000 horse pulled up very tired, but he was per-

GRIFFITH GETS CLARKSON. Harvard's Crack Pitcher to Join New York Americans.

New York American League ball club's pitching staff is to be reenforced shortly by Walter Clarkson, Harvard's crack twirler. Clarkson has signed a contract to play with Mr. Farrell's team and will join it as soon as his term at Harvard ends, which will be this Clarkson is the captain of the Harvard team and is now in his senior year at the Cambridge university. He has been on the team for four years and is regarded as the best college pitcher of recent years. He is a brother of John Clarkson, a star in his day and good judges say he is as good as John ever was. He is strongly built and has all the curves and speed and other accomplishments that go to make a first class box man. It is expected that with a professional catching him Clarkson will do better work than he has done at college, for few of the backstops he has had have been able to hold him. He did fine work as a freshman, when Bill Reid, Harvard's best catcher, was behind the bat. Yale has not won a series from Harvard since Clarkson's advent.

Many professional managers were after Clarkson, but Griffith finally landed him for a fancy salary. Another brother, Arthur, was a professional pitcher, and still another, Henry, an outfielder, first went to Harvard then to Yale. Clarkson is not only a pitcher, but a good hitter and outfielder. ever was. He is strongly built and has all

The second crew picked up the 'varsity boat and it was a pretty race to the railroad bridge. Neither crew had the advantage until the last minute, when the second crew slowly crept ahead and finished a quarter of a boat's length in the lead. Coach Colson intimated that the time was about 23 minutes 55 seconds. Watches on the outside, however, caught the four miles at 21 minutes 50 seconds.

The New Haven oarsmen's shells arrived by train at 7 o'clock to-night. Dr. Jouett examined all the Harvard 'varsity crew to-day and said that they were in excellent health.

There is a deadlock over the question of representation, and neither side seems disposed to yield. The A. A. A. wants one member empowered to cast the full vote of a club, while the A. M.
